

The Kids Bedrooms

Explore the Practical use of our Innovative Hardware Products

Drawing inspiration from their own teenage years and the rich character of Daylesford, they delivered two very different designs.

The blue room was created with a teenage boy in mind. At its heart was a bold circular wall cut-out, complete with a bench seat and hanging space for skateboards. The judges praised the attention to detail, noting features such as the timber shelving and bed, elements not often seen in a children's space.

Emma and Ben again brought in the colours of Daylesford in a fresh and playful way. The room's standout feature was a striking floral wallpaper, adding depth and personality to the space. Practicality wasn't forgotten either. The pair integrated Hettich Sensys hinges into the cupboards of each bedroom, ensuring both function and form were elevated to the same thoughtful standard as the rest of their renovation.
